inspirepac wins Business of the Year Award!

inspirepac team members are celebrating after winning the Business of the Year category at this year's Derbyshire Chamber of Commerce Awards.

The event took place at the Roundhouse in Derby and was organised by Derbyshire Chamber of Commerce and the Derby Telegraph. It was compared by local TV presenter Kay Alexander, with double-Commonwealth gold medal winner Ross Davenport from Belper the guest of honour

Chairman Alan Goodall said "I'm absolutely delighted inspirepac has won Business of the Year Award. I was pleased to accept the award on behalf of my colleagues. It is a wonderful recognition of the dedication, expertise and hard work done by my colleagues that has consistently gained us respect from our industry."

Today's market demands quality, reliability, service and above all flexibility, inspirepac have built their company on these principles. The past 12 months have been exceptional on the awards front; inspirepac has picked up a number of industry gongs at both local and national level, which have included successes at the Starpack Awards, UK Packaging Awards and the print industry's Excellence Awards. These achievements are truly testament of the hard work and dedication of the staff throughout inspirepac, in their quest to provide excellence.
